NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

Taking everything into consideration, there was a pretty good turnout last Thursday night for the Industrial Development meeting here. While there were only about 100 in attendance and a great many that should have been there that were not—it was about what could be expected, at least for the first meeting.

The real question is whether or not we go on from this meeting to some form of organization that will get something started. Just attending meetings is not enough—it takes a lot of work by dedicated citizens if a town is to compete for industry.

Seeking industry is big business and the competition is terrible. There are over 25,000 cities seeking more industries which means obviously that just wanting more industry in your town is not enough. You have to be able to compete with these other cities.

The task would be insurmountable if it were not for the fact that in most cases the industries are seeking a location within a 200-mile area so that you do not compete with all 25,000 cities in every case. But still you have to offer something that your neighbor does not if you are to realize any results from your efforts.

There is a proven method for communities to follow in setting up an industrial development program. Basically, this is knowing what you have to offer and selling this with every means you have available.

The Texas Industrial Commission has outlined a five-step program that is working for many cities across the state. This calls for a community betterment program which is the reason for West Texas Chamber of Commerce's Sparkle programs, the All American Cities contests and other such programs. You have to have a city that appeals to people and offers the services they demand.

The next step is to research and analyze what you have so that you know what type of industry could properly locate in your city and be able to prove what you have to offer.

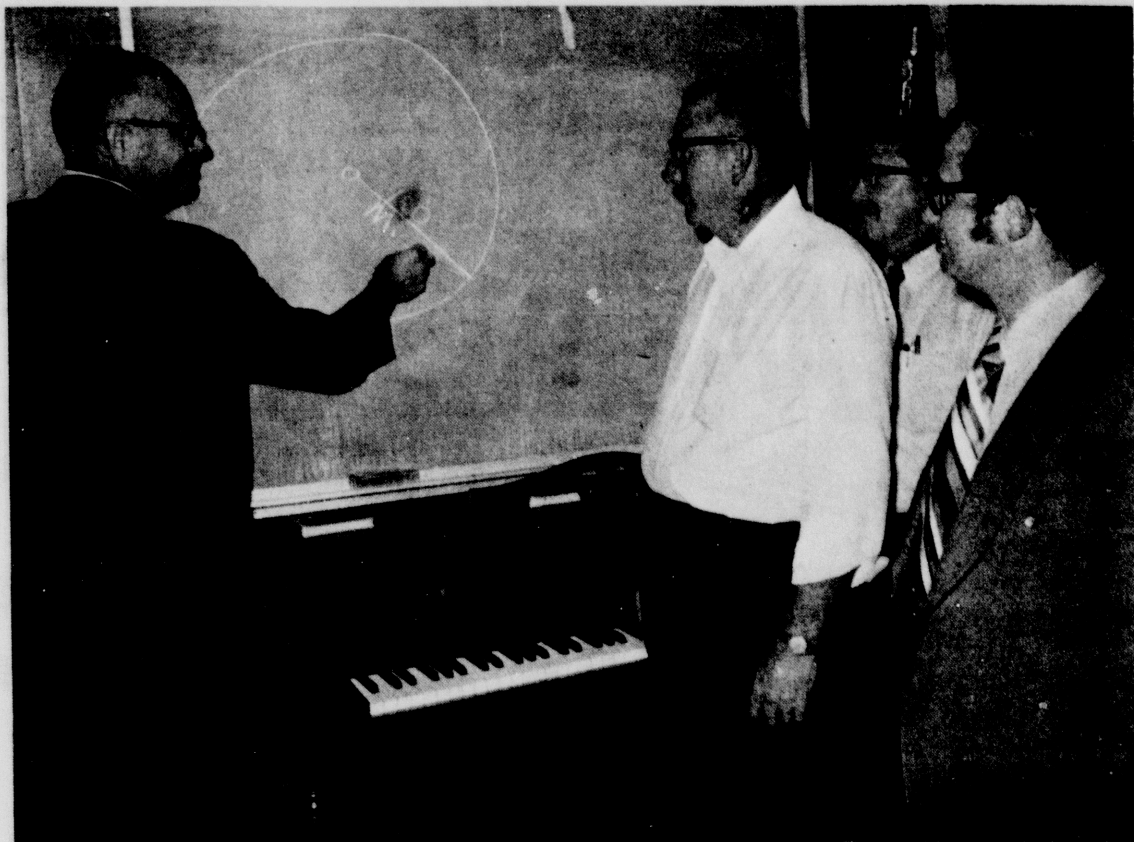

The third step is to survey the financial assistance that can be made available for any prospective industry. This normally includes the money to buy or lease land and build buildings to be leased to the firm. Most successful cities in locating industry have set up industrial foundations through donations. With this money, loans and government programs, this part of the program can usually be handled.

The third step is to secure suitable sites for plants. This includes buying the sites or securing options on them. You must be able to offer a prospect a firm commitment on a site—just saying we have a lot of land available is not enough.

The final step is to take this information and put it in a form that can be used to promote Hamlin and this area. There are a number of firms and agencies that keep such information on file for prospective industries. A big part of this final step is to train local people in presenting this information to the prospects.

And what are the rewards for all of this work? If successful, they are many. A new industry in a town that employs 100 people at $100 a week can mean as much as $300,000 a year to the local economy. It can mean more and better schools, churches, streets and city services.

So you can see it is important that something be started here if we are to protect our future and our investment here. The logical organization to get things started is the Board of Community Development, but this can not just stop with the few people on the board or on the committees but must include all the people of Hamlin. We all have too big a stake in this matter to depend on someone else to do the job.

TIPS ON DEVELOPMENT—Bill Collins, manager of Community Development for Lone Star Gas Company gives BCD officials some tips on securing industries at the meeting held here Thursday. Looking on as Mr. Collins explains that most industries locate within a 200-mile area are Ellis West, Charles Hilburn and Barry Moore.

100 Attend Industrial Development Meeting

A little over 100 people attended the first Industrial Development meeting to be sponsored by the Hamlin Board of Community Development here Thursday evening. Those gathered heard Bill Collins of Lone Star Gas Company outline the steps needed for a community to attract industry.

Mr. Collins is manager of Community Development for Lone Star Gas Company.

The meeting was presided over by Barry Moore, BCD President, who was assisted by Ellis West, chairman of the industrial development committee.

Mr. Collins in his opening remarks pointed out the need for industrial development, saying that there were 136 towns in Texas 40 years ago that do not exist today. He also stressed the need for jobs for the students who graduate here but have to go elsewhere to find work.

He noted the expense of educating our youth only to have someone else reaping the benefits of their education.

With agriculture and mining (including oil and gas) using less and less people, Mr. Collins said that manufacturing is the only direction left that offers increased job opportunities. He used statistics that show that for every dollar paid to an employee in manufacturing that this same dollar is spent on an average of six times within the community — making more jobs for more people.

Mr. Collins showed the group gathered a slide presentation entitled, "Our Home Town," which showed what needed to be done to compete for industry. The slides showed how important a community betterment program is and how a community must survey its assets and sell

Coach Deane Wright said after the Piper scrimmage last Friday that although his charges had a long way to go yet, he was pleased with their showing against Seymour. He said that there were a number of things that they will

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
(September 4, 1925)

The trustees of the Neinda school informed the Herald this week that they had let the contract for the re-building of the school building that was destroyed by fire last winter. J. S. Dean of McCaulley secured the job and a fine $15,000 brick and concrete structure will be erected.

There has been plenty of amusement in Hamlin this week. The picture show, the skating rink and Tom's Comedians. This is a new tent show for Hamlin and from appearance of the property, the style of characters and the plays offered Tom's measure up to the best.

The first round bale to be reported ginned in Hamlin was that for J. A. Morris at the Pioneer Gin this week. Morris took 1060 pounds seed cotton got two round bales, both weighing 376 pounds, which sold for 25¢. Seed brought $30. per ton. Morris was greatly pleased, and from the way he talked he is likely to "roll 'em" every time.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(September 1, 1950)

Head-knocking assumed the leading role in the training program of the Hamlin Pied Pipers football squad as the date of their engagement with the Stamford Bulldogs neared.

Ragged work on the part of the Pipers in their scrimmage with Winters at Abilene Saturday morning led to a bearingdown tempo in the Pipers' camp. Coaches Jesse Burdit and Vernon Townsend were displeased with the manner in which the squad executed their assignments in the Abilene appearance and they are making a concerted effort to polish up their boys for the September 8 hostilities.

Knee and ankle injuries have slowed up a number of the Piper linemen and they have been held out of scrimmage play until injuries heal.

Robert Fletcher has been used at the quarterback position during a portion of the week's grind as a precautionary measure to provide additional substitutes at this position.

Stamford is highly regarded in their district and they have been administering sound thrashings to various opponents in scrimmage sessions held thus far. A free-scoring exhibition is anticipated when the Bulldogs and Pipers meet.

Joe Daws, local officer of the Driver's License examiner had a busy time here in Hamlin Wednesday it seems—he handled approximately 35 people wishing to take their drivers license.

Daws had been on his vacation and Wednesday was his first since his return.

Ginning of the Jones County cotton crop is beginning in earnest since the report of last week that the first bale for the Hamlin area had been ginned.

First bale was grown by Melvin Henderson of McCaulley, and it was sold for 40 cents to the Hamlin Farmers Cooperative Gin.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce headed a drive to obtain a premium for Henderson through local subscription and $115 had been collected through Wednesday afternoon.

Hollis Madden reported to The Herald that the Farmers Cooperative Gin of Neinda had ginned 22 bales Thursday morning and that Henderson also brought the first bale to that gin. He was paid 40 cents for the Neinda bale.

Mrs. Jean Tefteller has resigned her position at the Hamlin Memorial hospital and returned to Sweetwater. Mrs. Tefteller performed the duties of technician at the hospital.

In the absence of Mrs. Tefteller Mrs. Clifford Reynolds has rendered yeoman service at the hospital on an emergency basis until a replacement can be obtained.

TEN YEARS AGO
(September 1, 1960)

Hamlin was one of four West Texas Cities to show an increase in population figures in a revised preliminary list released by the Bureau of the Census in Washington, D. C.

Hamlin showed an increase of 50, raising its count from 3,722 to 3,772.

Other cities showing an increase in a 13 county West Texas district were: Big Spring, Jacksboro and Midland.

According to Max Mossholder, district census supervisor, these figures are still not final. The final figures will be released in November.

A total enrollment of 867 has been reported in Hamlin Public Schools by Superintendent C. F. Cook, as the first week of classes gets underway.

A total of 625 are in the first through eighth grades with 242 being reported in high school. Last year there were 652 in the lower grades and 232 in high school.

A break-down according to grades is as follows: first, 89; second, 71; third, 82; fourth, 80; fifth, 75; sixth, 72; seventh, 86; eighth, 70; ninth, 68; tenth, 60; eleventh, 60; and twelfth, 54.

Hamlin Merchants will observe Labor Day Monday by closing, this is one of the regular holidays set by the Trade Development committee of the BCD.

Many Hamlin residents are expected to start the holiday by attending the Hamlin-Cisco football game Friday night.

The Lakeview Golf Club is hosting an invitational Golf Tournament Sunday and Monday.

Neinda Philosopher Comes Out With A New Notion As the New School Year Gets Underway

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One looks the situation over as a new school year gets underway.

Dear editor:

With motorists alerted on the opening of public schools because of more children on the streets and the National Guard alerted on the opening of colleges, I settled back down out here on this Johnson grass farm to reflect on a couple of items I encountered yesterday.

One was a television interview with a college student and the other a speech I read by a college president.

The college student, who was 21, said he'd tried for four solid years to get his message across to the system, using everything from trying to swing elections to peaceful protest, but the system's faults still exist and he sees no choice now but to use violence.

The college president said one answer to the school problems is to start kids in school at the age of 10. Said most kids are bored with the first few grades and they'd be better off if they didn't start till they were 10 years old, at which time they'd be in shape to learn some

Johnny Snapp
To Attend Officers
Basic Training

Second Lieutenant Johnny Snapp will report Sept. 9 to Ft. Knox, Ky., for nine weeks training in Officers Basic Course.

He was graduated from Hardin - Simmons University in May with a BBA degree and received his commission in the U. S. Army after ROTC training.

A 1966 graduate of Hamlin High School, Lt. Snapp will later go to Ft. Campbell, Ky., where he will be assigned to the second basic training brigade and be in charge of training basic trainees.

He will be accompanied by his wife, the former Judy Casey of Abilene. She formerly taught school in Colorado City.

Lt. Snapp's mother, Mrs. E. L. Snapp, a former Hamlin resident, lives in Roby.

really solid stuff four times as fast as they could when they were only 6.

If you ask me, neither one is right. In the first place, if you want a real revolution, tell parents who are living for the day when their child gets 6 and can get out of the house and into school that he'll have to be underfoot for another four years. Eee-yuk!

No. The answer is to start children to school when they're 1 and let them finish when they're 10.

This would thus give them 11 years till they're 21, and anybody knows it takes at least 11 years to straighten out the world, 4 years just never has been long enough.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BRIDGE

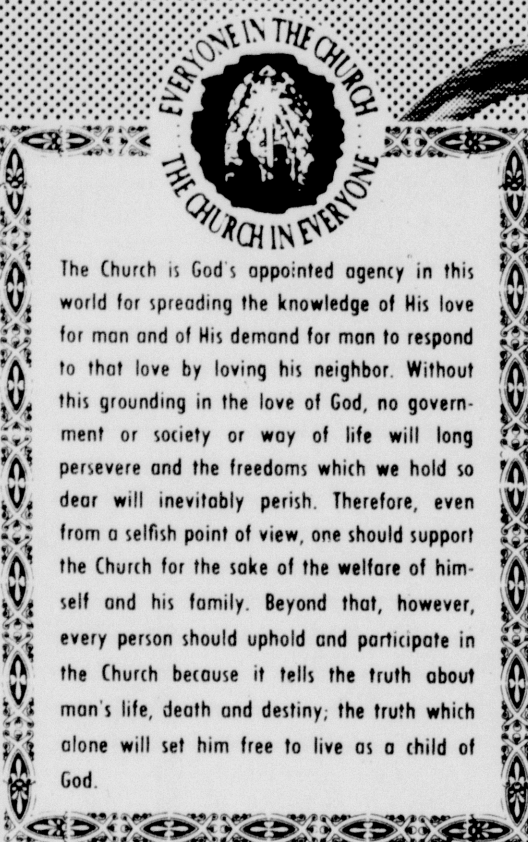

Winning first place in Tuesday evening's bridge play at Hamlin Duplicate Bridge Club were Mrs. Ray Sonnenburg and Harry Yates of Stamford.

Mrs. Gene Knabel and Jack Russell were second and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Albritton were third.

★ Honor God Sunday

SPECIAL DAYS . . . Monday has been set aside by man as a day to honor labor. Throughout the year, man works hard and deserves this recognition and rest. However, even before man saw this need for rest. God set aside one day a week for rest and worship. Attend church each Sunday. Worship the Lord in His house, on the day that He set aside.

"And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it He had rested from all His work which God created and made."

Brad Rowland Elected ASCS Committeeman

At the recent Convention of National Association of County (ASCS) Office Employees in Hot Springs, Arkansas, Brad (R. B.) Rowland of Anson, was elected Southwest Area Executive Committeeman.

Mr. Rowland has served the Jones county Agricultural and Stabilization and Conservation Office as Executive Director since February, 1962. He taught Vocational Agriculture for nine years and served two years in the U. S. Army Signal Corps before joining ASCS.

Mr. Rowland received a B. S. Degree in Agriculture from Texas Tech and M. A. Degree in Administration from ACC. He is married to the former Katherine Keith of Whiteface, and has four children: Keith, a Freshman in McMurry College, Lynn, a Junior and Richard, a Freshman in Anson High School, and Mary, a fourth grader.

He was elected Vice President of the Texas Association of County Office Employees in 1969 and elevated to the Presidency of the group in 1970. Texas has 1220 members and Mr. Rowland's work with the Association has well qualified him for his new field of service as Executive Committeeman, representing County Office Employees on a National level in the Southwest Area, composed of the following States: Arizona, California-Hawaii, Colorado, Kansas, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah and Texas.

The National Association of County Office Employees is composed of 13,477 regular members and 735 associate members (retired County Office Employees) of which 2782 regular members and 168 associate members are within the Southwest Area.

Report Shows $68.87 Added To Cost of Stripped Cotton

Memphis — A total of $68.87 is added to the cost of a bale of cotton after it leaves the picker basket, according to a report released by the Cotton Producers Institute (CPI). Part of this cost is paid by the farmer and is considered production expense. The study, conducted by the Department of Industrial Engineering at Texas Tech in Lubbock, was based on costs in the Texas High Plains area. According to E. Hervey Evans, Jr., Laurinburg, N. C., this added cost amounts to over 55 per cent of what a southeastern mill pays for a bale of cotton from the High Plains. Mr. Evans is chairman of the CPI Producer Planning and Services Committee. Ginning costs, at $27.70 per bale, contribute most to the added costs, but total gin costs have exceeded gin charges for the last few years. Problems caused by intermittent operation of the gin, low output related to gin capacity, and high percentage of down time contributed to this situation. These factors combined to result in a high fixed cost per bale as well as an excessive variable cost. But the study shows that ginning costs could be reduced 59 per cent to $11.38 per bale if the gin could be operated 22 hours a day at 85 per cent efficiency for 100 days. A system of seed cotton storage is necessary for the farmer to realize this saving. Mechanical harvesters that gulp cotton from fields much faster than man have compressed the ginning season from five months to two. Roy Forkner, a prominent producer and ginner from Lubbock, Texas, participated in the research program last year by storing seed cotton on the ground for up to 11 weeks. "There was no loss of quality, and the very little significant difference between seed cotton stored on the ground and that taken directly to the gin was in favor of stored cotton." Mr. Forkner packed his cotton in ricks where it was picked up by the gin on a scheduled basis. "As far as I know at this moment, I'll put all my seed cotton on the ground this year." He cautioned farmers in other parts of the Cotton Belt that different methods of seed cotton storage may be more practical in their areas. The High Plains of Texas is a semi-arid region where fall rains do not provide enough moisture to deteriorate the cotton fibers. "We have enough strippers here on the Plains to har-

DPS Says 48 May Die During Long Weekend

AUSTIN — Texas Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. (Pat) Speir said today indications are that 49 persons will be killed in Texas traffic crashes during the 78-hour Labor Day Holiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, September 4 to midnight Monday, September 7.

The estimate is based on numerous indicators and past experience on similar holiday periods, Colonel Speir said, adding that he hopes it will prove to be too high.

The Public Safety Director said numerous activities will be undertaken to hold down holiday tragedies on the streets and highways, "but, inevitably, the drivers themselves hold the solution in their hands."

"That is why we constantly and repeatedly appeal to drivers to remain continually on the alert for situations that can spell disaster and make driving a full-time job while they are behind the wheel.

"Department of Public Safety officers will be out in full force during the holiday period, as will local police officers within the cities, for the purpose of enforcing the safety laws which were designed to save lives and property," he said.

"Operation Motorcade," a statewide cooperative effort on the part of all police agencies and the public media will be in effect during the 78-hour period to serve as a reminder of the added hazards of holiday road travel.

During this operation, all traffic fatalities will be tabulated as they occur and periodic announcements of the death toll will be made for this purpose, he explained.

"Without the fine cooperation of the news media this program would not be possible, and the same applies to their support of Governor Preston Smith's 'Drive Friendly' program. This effort, has, in our opinion, been most effective."

"I would like to stress that our safe driving messages and reminders are in no way intended to discourage motorists from enjoying the streets and highways of Texas during holiday periods or at any other time. On the contrary, our purpose is to seek individual involvement in the traffic safety program."

Speir said an analysis of the fatal accidents that occurred during the last similar holiday period, the 78-hour Fourth of July holiday weekend revealed the following contributing factors:

General carelessness, excessive speed for conditions, failure to yield or stop when required, drivers drinking, pedestrians drinking. "Our study indicated that without a doubt, most of these fatal accidents could have been avoided," he said.

"It also is perhaps significant to note that most of the accidents involved only one vehicle, indicating that in most cases there was nobody else to blame but the driver himself. The study also revealed that in nearly half of the fatal crashes, the driver himself was the victim. There were nearly as many cases of vehicles running off the roadways as there were incidents involving more than one vehicle. In most cases where pedestrians were killed, the record indicates that it was the pedestrian who was at fault."

AUSTIN, — Top-flight business and industrial executives are getting an invitation to study the administration of state agencies and tell them how to do a better job, hopefully for less money.

House Committee on Efficiency and Economy urged Speaker Gus Mutscher to take the initiative in setting up an outside committee of experts.

Proposal actually originated with a Chicago consultant's preliminary review of 12 selected agencies. Consultant called for seven study teams of experts to do indepth surveys.

Chairman, Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston, said nearly everyone advocates "economy in the abstract," but "seldom is a studied, rational set of specifics advanced as a plan for saving tax dollars."

Committee is under no illusions that additional state spending will not be required as the state grows.

"The citizens are entitled to know that every tax dollar is being spent with maximum attention to efficiency and economy," said Cummings. "I feel that most of state government is being operated efficiently, but I am also convinced that additional savings can be pinpointed by experts from private enterprise organizations, studying operations within their own expertise."

Abilene Library Sets Storytelling Workshop In Sept.

A Storytelling Workshop will be held at the Abilene Public Library September 11 and 12.

Miss Laurie Dudley, coordinator of children's services of the Dallas Public Library, will be workshop consultant.

"This is an opportunity for people in your community as volunteers who will join in promoting the storytelling program in your library," said Thelma Andrews, head of the Abilene library. "We have purposely made this a two-day workshop hoping that some will be able to participate both days, but the program is also being planned so that, if you can attend only one day, it will be profitable to you."

"The workshop would be of interest to many associated with organizations in the community, such as Sunday School and kindergarten teachers, and others who work with children, as well as parents and grandparents who enjoy reading to their offspring," Miss Andrews added.

There is no charge for the workshop but there will be a nominal fee for persons having lunch with the group.
